LOS ANGELES, CA, Nov. 3, 2016 -- DreamJobbing is excited to announce that it is working with Jobs for Florida's Graduates (JFG), the Florida-based affiliate of Jobs for America's Graduates. Seventy-five JFG students have created DreamJobbing Video Profiles telling their story and sharing what their dreams and aspirations are.

Companies or individuals offering internships, menternships, work-based learning, college scholarships or entry-level jobs are invited to visit Dreamjobbing.com/floridasgraduates to access a diverse pool of Florida's best and brightest young people.

"At DreamJobbing, we believe it is extremely important to help tomorrow's youth by mentoring and offering them a chance to grow from opportunities," says Alex Boylan, DreamJobbing Co-Founder and Jacksonville native. "We encourage individuals and companies to give these amazing kids a shot to demonstrate their abilities and drive that can help change their lives forever.

Heather Beaven, CEO of The Florida Endowment Foundation for Florida's Graduates, which runs Jobs for Florida's Graduates, has already seen the direct benefits the DreamJobbing platform and video profiles have brought to the program and her students. "We can't say 'thank you' enough to companies like AppleOne, AT&T, YMCA, Hispanic Unity and the Children Services Commission of Broward who have already tapped into the knowledge, skills and abilities of our graduates. Sometimes all it takes is one shot at the prize to make dreams come true." says Heather.

About DreamJobbing

DreamJobbing is an innovative company that bridges the entertainment, technology, digital and branded-content worlds. It was founded by entertainment industry veterans Lisa Hennessy, Alex Boylan and Burton Roberts. The trio are entrepreneurs and storytellers with backgrounds in network TV production, digital content, social media, PR, marketing and technology. Lisa Hennessy is one of the key pioneers in large scale competition reality shows; she has Executive produced hundreds of hours of network TV including Eco-Challenge, Rock Star, The Contender, The Biggest Loser, and more. Alex Boylan and Burton Roberts were visionaries in the digital world, having created the first online, interactive series Around the World for Free, prior to the two becoming the go-to team producing branded digital content for CBS, The Rachael Ray Show, Travel Channel and many more. DreamJobbing has two distinct verticals: A creative agency and production company (www.DreamJobbing.com/agency) and a digital global platform (www.DreamJobbing.com), which offers the coolest jobs in the world.

About Jobs for Florida's Graduates

Jobs for Florida's Graduates (JFG) is a school-to-career program designed to help young people graduate, thereby building the confidence to move onto gainful employment or postsecondary education. This program is an affiliate of Jobs for America's Graduates (JAG).

JFG scouts, recruits, coaches and prepares talented kids to maximize opportunities as they move through the turbulent waters of middle school and as they learn to make real-world decisions in high school.

The JFG Treasure Hunters can be thought of as personal guidance counselors. In the classroom and on the web, they shepherd, lead, guide and mentor middle and high school students around the barriers and pitfalls that can derail a kid's future in the blink of an eye by helping them stay focused on college planning, career exploration, course planning, leadership development and academic success.
